In the SCA, no-one is simply a spectator. Everyone plays a part in bringing the Middle Ages and Renaissance to life by re-creating what interests them the most.

Want to know more? We welcome you to attend our local meetings and events. Get more information on your local group at www.SCA.org.

The Society for Creative Anachronism (SCA) is a not-for-profit educational organization dedicated to the study of the Middle Ages and the Renaissance, with over 50,000 participants worldwide who recreate different aspects of these eras. Members learn about what they recreate by actually doing the activities, crafts, arts and sciences practiced between 600 and 1600 AD.

No, we are not about Pokemon, but we are about creating an imagination driven world to explore every facet of life from the world of the Middle Ages.

Join us in making the past alive in the present!

The Society for Creative Anachronism (SCA) www.SCA.org

Members of the SCA learn about the past by researching medieval and Renaissance combat, arts, crafts, and traditions and then experience history by recreating it.

Artwork was created by talented artists and used with their permission for this specific flyer.

Respect their work by not copying it. Contact the artists for compliments and purchasing prints.

Front cover is "Pikachu Knight" by Ry Ry Pie Mcfly from Australia and can be found at <http://ry-spirit.deviantart.com>.

The tapestry-like paiting, "Truth and Ideals," is by a young American artist RileyKitty, whose work can be admired at <http://rileykitty.deviantart.com>.

"Celtic Pokeball" is my own work.

And the wonderful "Pika Warrior" was created by the German artist FurkanHolmes. Check out his other work at <http://furkanholmes.deviantart.com>.

Reprinting in it's entirety is fine, but please respect the legal rights and hard work of our contributors.
